

Shoreline and Coastal Planners Group Meeting
Fall Meeting
October 20, 2016

Cultural Resources: Planning and Permitting in the Shoreline

Bellingham Public Library Central Branch
210 Central Ave.
Bellingham, WA

AGENDA

|                         |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |               |
|-------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------|
| 9:00 – 9:30 AM   | Registration                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |               |
| 9:30 – 9:45 AM   | Introductions                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 15 min |
| 9:45 – 10:15 AM  | What are Cultural Resources?Dennis Lewarch, Suquamish TribeStephenie Kramer, Willamette Cultural Resources Associates                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 30 min |
| 10:15 – 10:55 AM | Regulatory and Legal issuesRandal Perry, U.S. Army Corp of EngineersLance Wollwage, WA Department of Archeology and Historic Preservation                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 40 min |
| 10:55 – 11:10 AM | BREAK                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |               |
| 11:10 – 11:30 AM | SMA Planning OpportunitiesTim Gates, WA Department of Ecology                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 20 min |
| 11:30 – 12:30 PM | Permit Process: Using Permits for ConditionsPANEL DISCUSSION:Andrew Hicks, Whatcom CountyGarth Baldwin, Drayton ArcheologyRandal Perry, U.S. Army Corp of EngineersLena Tso, Lummi TribeLance Wollwage, WA Department of Archeology and Historic PreservationRandi Thurston, WA Department of Fish and WildlifeMaurice Major, WA Department of Natural Resources | 60 min |
| 12:30 – 12:40    | Update on HPA RulesRandi Thurston, WA Department of Fish and Wildlife                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | 10 min |
| 12:40 – 1:20 PM  | LUNCH (BROWN BAG)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 40 min |
| 1:20 – 1:50      | CASE STUDYScott Williams, WA State Department of Transportation                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 30 min |
| 1:50 - 3:20      | Field Trip – Carpool to SiteTodd Koetje, WWUSarah Campbell, WWU                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 90 min |
| 3:20 – 3:30      | Wrap Up (in Field)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 15 min |

SPEAKER BIOS

Garth Baldwin, M.A., RPA, Principal of Drayton Archaeology, has been working along the Northwest Coast for 17 years and since 2004 has been a Principal Investigator. As the owner of Drayton, he has overseen the completion of over 700 cultural resources projects. Garth's experience also includes three years as the Highways and Local Programs (H&LP) Principal Archaeologist at Washington State Department of Transportation (WSDOT).

Sarah Campbell is a professor of anthropology at Western Washington University. She specializes in Pacific Northwest prehistory, hunter-gatherer adaptations, and archaeological methods and theory. Sarah co-led the field investigation of the Woodstock Farm.

Tim Gates has worked for 26 years in shoreline and growth management planning in Washington State. He is currently Shoreline Policy Lead at the Department of Ecology. Prior to this position Tim provided an intersection between the Growth Management Act and the Shoreline Management Act working as a Senior Planner with the Washington State Department of Commerce.

Andrew Hicks is the shoreline administrator for Whatcom County. Previously, Andrew served as a land use planner in Whatcom County. He started his career in Island County as a land use planner where he worked on in all aspects of planning.

Dennis Lewarch is the Tribal Historic Preservation Officer, Suquamish Tribe and has 45 years' experience as a professional archaeologist. He has conducted archaeological investigations throughout the United States and Mexico, where he worked in the private sector for engineering firms, and taught archaeology and cultural resources management. He created the Suquamish Archaeology and Historic Preservation Program in 2008 and serves as the Program Manager, overseeing a team that includes a professional archaeologist and a Tribal traditional heritage specialist.

Maurice Major is the Department of Natural Resource's archaeologist for Aquatic, Recreation, and Conservation lands. He has been working with archaeology and contemporary cultural resource issues in Hawai'i and Washington State for over 25 years.

Todd Koetje is an Associate Professor of Archeology and Chair of the Anthropology Department at Western Washington University. He co-led the field investigation of the Woodstock Farm in 2010.

Stephenie Kramer is a consulting archaeologist and project manager at Willamette Cultural Resources Associates (WillametteCRA) in Seattle. Prior to WillametteCRA, Stephenie was the Assistant State Archaeologist at Department of Archaeology and Historic Preservation (DAHP) for 14 years. While at DAHP she reviewed projects and issued excavations permits on both public and private lands under the Shoreline Management Act, Forest Practices Act, and the Governor's Executive Order 05-05

Randal Perry has been with the Regulatory Branch of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers since September of 2001 and has worked at the Bellingham field office since January of 2010.

Randi Thurston began her career with Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife in 2001 when she was hired as a habitat biologist covering the marine waters of Kitsap and Jefferson counties. Randi is currently the Habitat Program Protection Division Manager. She oversees the department's oil spill team and the regulatory services and SEPA sections.

Lena Tso is the Lummi tribal historic preservation officer and she has been in this field for 11 years. Lena is an enrolled member of the Lummi nation.

Scott Williams is the Cultural Resources Program Manager at WSDOT. He has over thirty years of experience in the field of historic preservation and cultural resources management working for state, federal, and private agencies in Washington, Oregon, and the Pacific Northwest.

Lance Wollwage is Assistant State Archaeologist for the State of Washington, working at DAHP. His responsibilities include issuing archaeological excavation permits and investigating illegal disturbances of archaeological sites and resources.