

Kate Litle

Resume

Citizen Science Specialist

Washington Sea Grant
3716 Brookly Ave NE
Seattle, WA 98105
kalitle@u.washington.edu

Education

- Master of Marine Affairs, University of Washington, 2008
- BA-Biology, Environmental Policy, Colby College, 1999

Positions Held/Experience

- Citizen Science Specialist. Washington Sea Grant, 2009-present
- Program Coordinator. Coastal Observation and Seabird Survey Team (COASST), School of Aquatic and Fishery Sciences, University of Washington, 2003-2008
- Graduate Teaching Assistant. Bevan Series on Sustainable Fisheries, School of Aquatic and Fishery Sciences, University of Washington, 2006
- Project Coordinator. Avian Predation on Juvenile Salmonids in the Mid-Columbia River, School of Aquatic and Fishery Sciences, University of Washington, 2002-2005
- Symposium Coordinator. Bevan Series on Sustainable Fisheries, School of Aquatic and Fishery Sciences, University of Washington, 2003-2004
- Assistant Research Manager. Pacific Northwest Coastal Ecosystems Regional Study (PNCERS), School of Aquatic and Fishery Sciences, University of Washington 2000-2003
- Intern. Centre for Rainforest Studies, School for Field Studies, Queensland, Australia, 1999-2000

Selected Publications and Presentations

Litle, K., J.K. Parrish, and J. Dolliver. 2007. The Coastal Observation and Seabird Survey Team—Citizens Monitoring Coastal Environmental Health in Alaska. In: Brewer, R. (ed.) Community-Based Coastal Observing in Alaska, Aleutian Life Forum 2006. Alaska Sea Grant College Program, AK-SG-07-03. University of Alaska Fairbanks. Pp. 21-38.

Litle, K. Building a Citizen Science Network. Biodiversity Conservation Conference: What Works, What's Next, Washington Biodiversity Council, December 4, 2007, Seattle, WA. (invited speaker and moderator)

Litle, K., J.K. Parrish, and J. Dolliver. Rigorous Data by Regular People: The Coastal Observation and Seabird Survey Team. Poster presented at Coastal Zone 07, July 22-26, 2007, Portland, OR.

Litle, K., J.K. Parrish, and J. Dolliver. Seabirds and Citizen Science: The Coastal Observation and Seabird Survey Team. Poster presented at Citizen Science Toolkit

Conference, Cornell Lab of Ornithology, June 20-23, 2007, Ithaca, NY.

Litle, K., J.K. Parrish, and J. Dolliver. Seabirds, Citizens and Conservation: The Coastal Observation and Seabird Survey Team. Puget Sound Georgia Basin Research Conference, March 28, 2007, Vancouver, BC, Canada.

Litle, K., J.K. Parrish, and J. Dolliver. Citizens and Seabirds—Monitoring Coastal Environmental Health in Alaska. Alaska Forum on the Environment, February 13-16, 2007, Anchorage, AK.

Hilborn, R., J.K. Parrish, and K. Litle. 2005. Fishing rights or fishing wrongs? Reviews in Fish Biology and Fisheries 15:191-199.

Litle, K., T. Mitchell, and K. Nettleton. 2005. Research Priorities Memo. Pgs. 21-29 in: Washington State Ocean Policy Work Group. Action for Washington's Ocean: Initial Steps to Enhance Management of Washington State's Ocean and Outer Coasts Office of the Governor, Olympia, WA 59pp.

Litle, K. and J.K. Parrish (eds.) 2003. Where the River Meets the Sea: Case Studies of Pacific Northwest Estuaries. PNCERS 136pp.

InstanceEndEditable